

SOUTH RICHMOND

JUDGE WELLS ISSUES
LICENSE TO MARCHETTI

May Operate Saloon at Balducci's Old
Stand if There Is No Disorder.

PARCEL POST BUSINESS GROWS

Southside Wants Exclusive Services of City Sanitary Inspector—Yes, Mil-likin Seriously Ill—Personal Mention.

J. Marchetti, who ran a confectionery store on Broad Street, has been granted a license by Judge Ernest H. Wells, of Hustings Court, Part II, to operate a saloon at 1305 Hull Street. The license held by Umberto Balducci at this place was revoked last week on complaint of residents of the neighborhood that the place was disorderly. The saloon was allowed to open again on the promise of Marchetti to eliminate all disorder.

Balducci was arraigned last week in Hustings Court, Part II, on the charge of selling liquor to John Minor, a young colored boy, but the case was nolle prosequed.

Parcel Post Report.
The report of Superintendent L. B. Lloyd, sent to the Postmaster-General yesterday, shows that 452 parcel post packages were received last week at Manchester postal station for mailing, with a postage of $59.14. The number of packages delivered was 1,092, which was more than twice as much as the outgoing business. There was a remarkable increase in the parcel post business, which is getting larger every day.

In Hustings Court, Part II.
The suit of Simeon Duncan against the Richmond Forgings Corporation was continued yesterday in Hustings Court, Part II. Duncan asks $5,000 damages for alleged injuries received in the plant.

The suit of Charles F. Friend against L. K. Shepherd will be tried to-day before Judge Ernest H. Wells.

Want Mitchell Returned.
Many Southsiders are anxious to have Health Officer Mitchell returned to this side, and a committee from the South Richmond and Chesterfield Business Men's Association will interview Chief Health Officer Levy this week in regard to the matter. Sanitary inspectors come on calls, but no one is now permanently assigned to this district.

Mrs. Millikin Seriously Ill.

Mrs. Robert F. Millikin, wife of it. F. Millikin, of Engine Company No. 13, is seriously ill at her home, 495 West Eleventh Street.

Personal and General.

The Woman's Missionary Society of Bainbridge Street Baptist Church will meet this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the parlors of the church. An address will be delivered by Miss Alice Taylor, leader in the young people's work, and special music will be rendered.

Justice Henry A. Maurice was able to be out yesterday, after an illness of two weeks. He occupied the bench in Police Court, Part II. Only minor cases were heard.

Good fishing is reported in the Chesterfield ponds and many Southsiders are returning with handsome catches.

The garden at the Third Police Station, the pride of the officers, has been planted with many flowers, and is now in full bloom.

Installation services were held on Sunday for Rev. H. B. Jordan, the new pastor of Stockton Street Baptist Church.

SENDS BULLET INTO BRAIN.
Newport News Man Despondent Over Loss of His Position.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Newport News, Va., May 4.—Mr. M. Lynch, aged fifty-nine years, committed suicide to-day by shooting himself through the forehead with a revolver at the dinner table at his home. The ball came out the top of his head, penetrating the brain, but he lived two hours. Dependence because of the fact that he had lost his position with the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, is given as the cause. Lynch is survived by his widow and three children.

HEAPING INSULTS ON HATED YANKEES

Americans had their homes. The authorities took all the American-owned automobiles they could find and formally took possession of American clubhouses.

They took over the offices of the Aguila Oil Company, Lord Cowdry's big corporation, and seized the Mexican tramway company's offices and rolling stock, driving out all the white men employed in any capacity, regardless of their nationality. The tramway company is a Canadian corporation. All the cash of the company was confiscated.

All this time the Mexican newspapers were doing everything possible to incite the people to violence against Americans, and the government was forbidding any of the Yankees to leave the city.

El Inmortal, in telling of the attack on Vera Cruz, said:
"Our accursed cousins landed in Vera Cruz, armed and aggressive, but the brave citizens and the garrison intrepidly defended themselves against the blind beasts, who, when the tottering ruins no longer had any defenders, killed women and children and committed unspeakable outrages."

FALL OF DICTATOR IN FUTURE

With all this going on and with Huerta culling on the people to rise and drive the invaders from Mexico, there has been, and is, a decided undercurrent of feeling against Huerta and his government and the best citizens, the bankers and merchants, as well as many members of the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate, are saying that the days of the dictator are numbered, and that his fall is certain in the near future.

Huerta has heard of this, and arrests have been made in great numbers of men who have dared to oppose Huerta's rule by word or gesture. That the old Indian is determined to stick it out to the bitter end is to be no doubt, but what that end is to be none can foretell at this writing.

Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister, has brought great pressure to bear upon Huerta, and this has been backed by all of the other members of the diplomatic corps in Mexico.

Huerta spent most of last night in conference with Sir Lionel Carden, at the British legation. He went there at 9 o'clock, and remained until 5 o'clock this morning, and during nearly all that time Sir Lionel was putting arguments before him to get him to resign, or at least get out of the country. But to all the arguments the old man turned a deaf ear.

It is an undoubted fact, however, that a train has been kept in waiting for him for nearly a week to take him to Manzanillo. He might have gone on this train but for the fact that he has been so closely watched by the rebels, and knows it. His bodyguard has been doubled and trebled, and he cannot make any movement without a score of more secret service men at his elbow. He is trying now to make a combination with the rebels, both north and south, but apparently with little or no success.

The rebels know that it is merely a question of a short time when Huerta will have no support whatsoever, and they prefer to capture him and execute him to making any sort of a deal with him.

If Huerta is driven to the wall, he may commit any excesses and even order a massacre of Americans. He is fully capable of it, especially when drunk and he is rarely entirely sober these days. It all depends on whether he thinks such a move would help him to regain popularity. He cares nothing for human life. He has the blood of old Aztecs in his veins, the ancient warriors who thought nothing of having sacrifices of thousands of human beings at their temples to celebrate a victory or give eclat to a feast day.

AMUSEMENTS

Academy—"Damaged Goods."
Hilton—Grace Scott Company in "The Prisoner of Zenda," matinee and night.
Lyric—Keith Vaudeville, matinee and night.
Colonial—Vaudeville and pictures.

Pretty Romance at the Hilton.
High romance holds sway at the Hilton, where De Witt Newing presents Grace Scott and her company in "The Prisoner of Zenda," a play which is a dramatization of that famous novel by Anthony Hope. The play is a discovery and exploration of so many mythical European kingdoms and personalities by actors and actresses. As "The Prisoner of Zenda" was the first of these romances of Ruritania and like countries, so it has remained the best, notwithstanding the persistent efforts of the George Barr McCutcheons and Harold MacGrathes and the play form retains the very spirit of the book, as well as many of its incidents.

especially in view of his physical unsuitability for the part. Mr. Black Michael was excellent; Mr. Anderson was satisfactory as Fritz, and Mr. Warner played Rudolph Rassendyl and the King of Ruritania for about two hours and forty minutes.

Owing to the length of the play, the evening performances will begin promptly at 8:10; the matinee hours remain unchanged.

Another Big Act Is Good.

Charles F. Robinson, Minutemen Circus, with which the Lyric's bill opens this week, is that rare thing, a dog act with such novel and amusing features that it is well adapted to entertain grown people and to throw children into spasms of delight.

Dorothy Meuther, billed as a character comedienne, follows far behind, though next on the program, and is succeeded by Austin Webb & Company in a one-act play called "Your Girl and Mine." Mr. Webb is an actor of high attainments, as is well known by those who saw him as the lieutenant-governor in "The Chansman," and as the husband of "The Woman's" is not to blame for all of the loud heroics of this Stars-and-Stripes-forever melodrama.

The Verigraph, shown here for the first time, is exceedingly interesting. The pictures shown, when viewed with the naked eye, are blurred, confused masses of red and green, but seen through little lognettes—green isinglass for the right eye and red for the left—they actually display the third dimension so long sought for by photographers—depth. Branches of trees seem to extend far over the orchestra pit, and figures stand out from landscapes in proper perspective.

A man and two small boys, programmed as the Great Ergotti and the Lilliputians, present an act composed of comedy and astounding acrobatics, which is good enough to exploit as a headliner. No Japanese act has ever offered a more wonderful exhibition of foot juggling than is given by this trio, while the head and hand balancing of the two boys is more than remarkable.

One of Those Four Entertainers has a voice that might possibly be equal in resonance and carrying power by drawing a well-resined joist over a taut chain, but by nothing else. Personally, I've never heard such a voice—it's unique, about forty or fifty years old, and the audience yesterday afternoon couldn't hear enough of it. It's worth hearing over and over again, both for its comedy value and because it offers a study in freak vocalism.

Louis Simon's "The New Persian Garden" is another big act that is not only big, but good. Mr. Simon himself has many followers who revel in his peculiar style of comedy, and he is assisted by several comedians who have made good in other and more elaborate productions. Lillian Boardman is plumper than yore, but sings prettily enough with a suggested little lisp; Fred Lyon, one of the best liutenants that ever sang "The Message of the Violet" in "The Prince of Pilsen," is back here again and singing as well as ever, and Flavia Arcaro, seen here with Weber & Fields in their all-star grand opera, has made good in other and more elaborate productions. Comedian and Girls at Colonial.
Tom Linton and his Jungle Girls are the feature at the Colonial for the first of the week, presenting one of the snappiest musical comedies seen at that theatre in several weeks. The act is well costumed and set, the girls are pretty and sing and dance well, and Linton is a comedian of no mean ability, while Grace Lindquist, who plays the Queen of the Zulus, is unusually pretty and attractive. Original dances feature this feature, and the storm of applause given at its conclusion was well deserved.

Mr. and Mrs. William Morris displayed acting ability in a well-written comedy playlet, and the Palace Four, a quartet of nice looking young men, sang close and pleasing harmonies, to the joy of the house.

Peter Lewin, the man who walked away with two concerts given by the Marine Band in the City Auditorium by his wonderful playing of the xylophone, showed how he did it—and could do it again.

Bobby Smith is a juggler—perhaps! The motion pictures are good—certainly!

"Damaged Goods" To-Night.
Eugene Brisco's famous medical play, "Damaged Goods," will open its engagement of three performances at the Academy of Music to-night. It is to be remembered that children under eighteen will not be admitted unless accompanied by parent or guardian.

Irrigates the Blood Knocks Rheumatism

A Remedy That Flushes the Blood from Head to Foot.

To get rid of rheumatism requires that the blood be completely flushed—not a mere makeshift as by salts and pain killers. The long record of S. S. S. is important to know. It has found its way into every section of the nation. It is the most widely used and most widely talked-of remedy there is for all blood troubles. And it is a known fact that rheumatism is primarily a blood trouble.

It is conceded by the closest students of the subject that rheumatism is caused in most cases by an acid condition of the blood and aggravated by the remedial commodes used for relief. In other cases rheumatism is the result of nerve depression; in still others it is the effect of some vitiated blood condition, having been treated with mercury, iodides, arsenic, and other poisonous mineral drugs.

The recoveries of all these types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. is a wonderful tribute to the natural efficacy of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally, just as specifically, and just as well ordered as the most acceptable, most palatable and most readily digested food. Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. today, but insist upon S. S. S. Don't accept a substitute. If your rheumatism is of such a nature that you would like to consult a great specialist confidentially, write to the Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Co., 630 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.
